SUMMARY.

The body of King Edward was to have been removed from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Abbey on Monday.

There will be a memorial service on every Friday evening on Friday, and in every parish church in England and Wales.

Thousands of holiday-makers, who were gathered in masses throughout the country, have been returning to their homes.

The steam cutter "Cleopatra" sank the trawler "The Fish Hawk" in the North Sea, and the crew of the trawler were drowned.

The destroyer "Viking" collided with a tug, the "Triton," which had on board a pleasure party of 20 persons.

The "Triton" sank, but those on board were rescued after a narrow escape.

Mr. Bennett Clark Hyde has been found guilty of the murder of Colonel Thomas Burke. He was sentenced to imprisonment for life.

Nisiani, an Italian member of the Black Hand, has been sentenced in New York to a term of imprisonment for blackmailing Sir Carrigan.

A serious outbreak of foot and mouth disease among cattle has occurred in the province of Corrientes, Argentina.

The arbitrators have awarded the conductors and train men of the Vanderbilt lines five per cent. increase in wages.

The men of Pennsylvania and Erie railroads are threatening to strike to secure a similar advance.

A French captain has avenged the disaster to a French detachment in the Western Sudan. One hundred were killed by the avenging column.

Viscount Gladstone (Governor-General of the Cape) has returned to England after his tour of duty in the Cape.

The representatives of the powers in Mexico are pessimistic concerning the situation.

Wave fighting has taken place near Per between the troops of the Sultan and the tribesmen.

The Federal Parliament is to be opened for the despatch of business on July 1.

A cabinet meeting was held yesterday. Ministers discussed the proposed policy, but no definite decision was made.

The Governor-General has been informed by the Secretary of State that Empire Day celebrations need not be held in the colonies.

The Archbishop has expressed his sympathy with St. James's congregation in the suspension of the appointment of a rector.

Mr. Wright says he is anxious to ally the unaffiliated forces that are suggested, and he proposes to speak to the congregation on the subject on June 1.

The annual session of the Protestant Alliance Primary Society was commenced yesterday.

In his opening address the Worshipful Grand Master said the society had never been in a stronger position.

The strike leaders D. Hutton, W. O'Connor, and J. Butler were released from Matfield Jail yesterday morning.

They are all in the best of health, and stated that they had suffered no particular hardships.

Mr. V. Trumper says the statement that the players of the Australian Eleven received £450 does not convey an exact idea of each man's profit.

The annual profit to each member of the team was, he remarked yesterday, a little over £200.

The second annual conference of the Flinders Association was opened yesterday.

The president, in his report, criticized the late conference for its attitude towards local government bodies.

The Minister for Lands said he viewed with much concern the proposed introduction of the progressive land tax by the Federal Government.

He feared it would have a baneful effect on local government.

All public schools in the State are to be closed on Friday.

Interrate shipowners have determined to carry out only such work on Friday as is essential in the public interest.

The leader of the State Labour party denounced his pro-union speech before a large audience last night.

He advocated the nationalization of monopolies, and said it was a matter of time before the State would take over the railways.

He also advocated the nationalization of the banks, and said it was a matter of time before the State would take over the banks.

The visit is not official, but the lady has been given letters of introduction to the local authorities.

The annual conference of the British Factory Managers Association was opened in Melbourne yesterday.

He referred to the risk of danger from fire, and said it was a matter of time before the State would take over the factories.

The barque "Marjory Glen" arrived at Wellington from Liverpool after a stormy passage.

The vessel was twice thrown on her beam ends.

The cargo of the late Mrs. J. H. Agnew of Sydney, Australia, has been valued at £200,000 in value.

The testifies makes a large number of bequests to relatives and personal friends.

The whole of the settled agricultural and pastoral areas in South Australia have received a good rainfall.

Forty-four cattle recorded over half an inch. The rain was extremely timely.

Steady rain fell at Willicana on Tuesday afternoon, half an inch being recorded.

LAW REPORT.

THE HIGH COURT.

(Before the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Griffith, Mr. Justice O'Connor, and Mr. Justice Isaacs.)

CIVIL SERVANTS' CLAIM.

Mason v. the Commonwealth.

This case originally came before the Court in February last, Mr. Justice O'Connor sitting alone. It was then agreed between the parties, via, Walter George Mason, plaintiff, and the Commonwealth, defendant, that the case should be put in and the whole matter referred to the Full Court. His Honor, at the time, the following note:—"It is agreed that the Full Court shall have power to draw all necessary conclusions from the facts of the case, and shall have power to enter judgment in accordance with the result of its decision on the merits of the case."

Plaintiff was represented by Mr. Brisenand and Mr. Teese (instructed by Messrs. John MacLachlan and Son); while Mr. Justice O'Connor, Mr. D. L. Ferguson, and Mr. Fiddington (instructed by Mr. Charles Power, Commonwealth Counsel) appeared for the defendant.

Plaintiff in the matter is suing the Commonwealth Government for arrears of pension, practically for a declaration that he is entitled to additional pension to the amount he is at present receiving. The pension is payable by the Commonwealth Government from 1912 to January 1, 1913, as a line reward, telegraph operator, and in consideration of his services in connection with the Commonwealth Government.

Plaintiff is entitled under section 41 of the Act to the whole of his pension, and is entitled to the computation of his pension allowance.

Defendant's counsel submitted that during a portion of plaintiff's period of service he was only a temporary employee of the department, and in these circumstances could not be treated as an officer within the meaning of the Act.

Plaintiff's claim is for £20, being arrears of pension payable to him at the rate of £4 a year from December 30, 1906, to December 31, 1909.

The case stands part heard.

ROGERS v. THE COMMISSIONER OF PATENTS.

Argument was conducted in this case, in which plaintiff is appealing against the refusal of the Commissioner of Patents to accept a certain invention for the purpose of being submitted by applicant, and the Court reserved judgment.

STATE SUPREME COURT.

(Before the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Cohen, and Mr. Justice Friel.)

QUESTION OF LIABILITY.

Broughton v. Fielding.

Mr. Broughton, instructed by Messrs. S. and R. Broughton, appeared for the defendant, and moved to make absolute a rule nisi to set aside the verdict found for the plaintiff, with damages of £100, and to enter a verdict of £100 for defendant; or for a new trial. Mr. D. G. Ferguson, instructed by Mr. S. and R. Broughton, appeared for the plaintiff, and opposed the motion.

The circumstances of the case have already been stated. Mr. Broughton, who is a workman, was employed by the defendant, a workman, against his employer, James Fielding, to recover compensation for injuries sustained by the plaintiff while working at a circular saw erected at defendant's place of business for the purpose of cutting boards for box-making. The first count of the plaintiff's declaration was a common law claim for damages, and the others were framed under the Employers' Liability Act, but the real question was, whether, on the evidence, the jury ought to have found that the plaintiff voluntarily took upon himself the risk of the accident that might occur from the working of the machine. The first ground taken was that the verdict was against evidence and the law; the second was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first, second, and fifth counts of the declaration, inasmuch as upon the evidence the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The third ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The fourth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The fifth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The sixth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The seventh ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The eighth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The ninth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The tenth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The eleventh ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The twelfth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The thirteenth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The fourteenth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The fifteenth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The sixteenth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The seventeenth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The eighteenth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The nineteenth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The twentieth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The twenty-first ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The twenty-second ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The twenty-third ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The twenty-fourth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The twenty-fifth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The twenty-sixth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The twenty-seventh ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The twenty-eighth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The thirtieth ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The thirty-first ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The thirty-second ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. The thirty-third ground was that his Honor should have directed a verdict for the defendant on the first and second counts of the declaration, inasmuch as the evidence showed that the plaintiff was not negligent, and the injury was caused by the negligence of the defendant in the machine in respect of which the injury arose, and voluntarily incurred the risk of the accident which caused the injury. MOORS IN ARMS.

SULTAN'S HEAVY LOSSES.

EUROPEANS PESSIMISTIC.

LONDON, May 17. Representatives of the Powers in Morocco are pessimistic concerning the situation. Grave fighting has taken place between the troops of the Sultan and the troops of France, Spain, and Italy, in the neighbourhood of Fez. The Sultan's troops have suffered heavy losses in dead, wounded, and prisoners, and there have been many deserters. The Sultan has sent to the front all available reinforcements, and has despatched five more troops.

SHIPPING DISASTERS.

A TRAWLER SUNK.

NINE LIVES LOST.

LONDON, May 16. The steam cutter Cleopatra sank the trawler Windsor Castle in the North Sea, and several of the trawler's crew were drowned.

EXCURSIONISTS' ESCAPE.

The destroyer Viking, when leaving the type for steering trials, collided in a fog with the tug Triton, which had on board a pleasure party of 20 persons. The Triton sank, but the pleasure trippers were rescued after a narrow escape. The Viking's stem was broken.

CONTINENTAL SOCIALISM.

ADVANCE IN VIEWS.

THE POWER BEHIND NATURE.

LONDON, May 16. Thousands of trades unionists and socialists in Lille, France, welcomed a party of 250 members of the British Pleasant Sunday Afternoon Brotherhood. The visitors included Mr. Keir Hardie, M.P., and Mr. William Ward, president of the Council of National Brotherhood, who are presiding on a Whitmanite Christian crusade in France and Belgium. Mr. Keir Hardie remarked that religion had made him a socialist. The Churches, he said, were now becoming more sympathetic towards labour. Great socialist leaders on the Continent like M. Jean Leon Jaurès, of France, and M. Van der Velde, of Belgium, had been discovering what their British brethren had never forgotten—that behind Nature was a Power unseen, but felt; and that there was a world of reality beyond death.

THE CRETAN TROUBLE.

ADVICE OF THE POWERS.

LONDON, May 16. The four protecting Powers have intimated to the two political parties in Crete that unless Mohammedan members are allowed to sit in the National Assembly the consequences will be very serious for the people of Crete. Meetings have been held in various towns in Turkey to protest against the action of the Cretan Assembly, which is threatening to the King of the Hellenes. Resolutions were passed urging Albanians and Turks to surrender their arms, and join against the Greeks.

TRADE OF PHILIPPINES.

INCREASE IN UNITED STATES.

LONDON, May 17. Statistics for the eight months since freetrade was established between the United States and the Philippines show that United States imports from the Philippines increased from £1,322,000 to £2,441,000, and exports from the United States to the Philippines increased from £1,407,000 to £2,238,000, compared with the immediately preceding similar period of eight months.

JAPAN-BRITISH EXHIBITION.

NEW ZEALAND'S DISPLAY.

LONDON, May 17. The New Zealand pavilion of the Japan-British exhibition includes meat, butter, cheese, apples in a refrigerator, wine, grain, and mineral trophies; and gold, silver, and wood exhibits. There is a remarkable collection of kauri gum. The walls of the pavilion are decorated with the heads of offspring of Windsor deer, which the Prince Consort presented to New Zealand in 1894.

FIGHTING IN FRENCH SOUDAN.

FRENCH DISASTER AVENGED.

LONDON, May 16. A French column had avenged the disaster which befell a French detachment at the hands of the Sultan of Massalia, when it ambushed them in February last near Abesher, the capital of Wadai, in the Western Sudan. One hundred were killed by the avenging column.

HIGHER WAGES.

AMERICAN RAILWAY TO PAY.

LONDON, May 17. The arbitrators have awarded the conductors and trainmen of the Vanderbilt lines west of Buffalo 7 per cent. increase in their wages. The men of the Pennsylvania and Erie railroads are voting whether they shall strike to secure a similar advance.

THE ALBANIAN REVOLT.

PROGRESS OF PACIFICATION.

CHARGE OF CRUELTY REPORTED.

LONDON, May 16. Mahmud Sherket Pasha, who is negotiating with the principal Albanian chief in the Kosovo Vilayet, has recommended the Porte to adopt a conciliatory policy in Albania. The special correspondent of the "Times" in Albania, who has visited the scene of the recent operations of the Turkish troops, states that the punishment inflicted by them was condign, but that it is not true the punishment was indiscriminate and unduly ruthless.

EFFORTS OF PEACEMAKERS.

A CALL TO UNITY.

LONDON, May 17. Notable Albanians in Constantinople are exerting their friends in Albania to abandon the fratricidal struggle with the Turks. Several ulamas (religious teachers) are making similar efforts in the disputed districts. Both parties of peace-makers are urging the Cretan difficulty as a reason for abandoning the struggle.

TRIAL OF A DOCTOR.

HYDE FOUND GUILTY.

LONDON, May 16. The trial at Kansas City of Dr. Bennett Clarke Hyde, who was charged with the murder of his father-in-law, Colonel Thomas Swope, by means of strychnine capsules, has concluded. The jury, who had deliberated since Friday, found Hyde guilty of murder in the first degree, and the prisoner was sentenced to imprisonment for life. A detailed statement of the case against Dr. Hyde has already been published in the "Herald." Shortly put it was alleged that Hyde had been administering to him in water, and by administering them tried to kill various members of the Swope family, with whom he was connected by marriage. But certain circumstances connected with the case led the jury to believe that Hyde was the murderer. Hyde was a doctor of medicine, and he was accused of poisoning Colonel Swope, his father-in-law, with strychnine capsules. Hyde was charged with the murder of his father-in-law, Colonel Thomas Swope, by means of strychnine capsules, has concluded. The jury, who had deliberated since Friday, found Hyde guilty of murder in the first degree, and the prisoner was sentenced to imprisonment for life.

BLACKMAILING CARUSO.

EXEMPLARY PUNISHMENT.

LONDON, May 16. Nislan, an Italian member of the Black Hand Society, has been sentenced in New York indeterminate to 24 to 74 years imprisonment on a charge of attempting to extort from Signor Caruso, the tenor, £3,000 by threats of death. Scattered through the immense audience gathered to hear Caruso at the Brooklyn Academy of Music on March 7 (writes the New York Herald) were 20 detectives. Half a dozen saw Caruso in the chorus by the name of Nislan. He was dressed in a tuxedo, and he was perched in the box above the stage, while more than a score associated with him. Caruso was singing the "Carmen" when Nislan was arrested. The police officers were alerted by the shouting of the audience, and they rushed to the stage. Nislan was taken into custody, and he was charged with the attempt to extort £3,000 from Caruso. The authorities were consulted, and in view of the so-called "Black Hand" extortionists, they decided that upon the first public appearance of Caruso since the arrest of Nislan, he should be given police protection equal to that of a great star, that he should be escorted by a large force of police, and that he should be allowed to travel in a motor car. Accordingly, Caruso was not allowed to travel the few miles from the Kew-Forest Hotel to Brooklyn in a private motor car, but he was escorted by a large force of police. FIGHTING IN FRENCH SOUDAN.

FRENCH DISASTER AVENGED.

LONDON, May 16. A French column had avenged the disaster which befell a French detachment at the hands of the Sultan of Massalia, when it ambushed them in February last near Abesher, the capital of Wadai, in the Western Sudan. One hundred were killed by the avenging column.

HIGHER WAGES.

AMERICAN RAILWAY TO PAY.

LONDON, May 17. The arbitrators have awarded the conductors and trainmen of the Vanderbilt lines west of Buffalo 7 per cent. increase in their wages. The men of the Pennsylvania and Erie railroads are voting whether they shall strike to secure a similar advance.

THE NITRATE TRUST.

RENEWING AGREEMENTS.

LONDON, May 17. Owners of nitrate fields in Chile met Valparaiso to renew the Nitrate Trust. They are urging the Government to force all owners of nitrate fields to adhere to the Trust.

NEGROES INCARCERATED.

IN AN ALABAMA PRISON.

LONDON, May 17. Thirty-five negro convicts at Centreville, Alabama, have been burned to death through one convict setting fire to a stockade.
